ANNOUNCEMENTS:

- Jane Forrest Redfern, Athens Hocking Solid Waste District Director, shared the following:
 - AHSWD received comments back from the EPA on their solid waste district draft plan. They are requesting public comments. Both counties in the district do have to approve it.
 - Recycling days are (1200 people in Athens last year) April 20 at Fairgrounds. Tires might be at that date but another date. The household hazardous collection at Fairgrounds in June. October 19th recycling day. Recycling center in Logan can take any materials anytime of the year just call Jane.
 - Recycling trail has maps and online maps. If you visit 10 sites you can get a bag, walking stick or patch.
 - Workshops are coming out for fix it for bikes, lawn mower repairs, hemming and such.
 - AHSWD voted on Monday morning to form a council of governments to deal with all aspects for solid waste in the area. It is open to all government entities. If you are interested in being part of the discussions, reach out to Jane or Lenny. This would be a council of governments that provides a “menu” of services. This is an asset that both the city, the district, the health department and more have built up that they don't want to lose.

- Mayor Patterson stated that there is a lot of misinformation around this COG and asked whether this is a true COG or an “exploratory” COG. Jane said that in order to form a COG, you have to have two political entities. The board voted to elect to be a founding member and it was charged that Commissioner Eliason and Jane will explore what that looks like. The agreement for the forming of and bylaws of the COG would need to be written by the people of the COG. Patterson asked if other entities could join under the exploratory version of the COG. Jane stated that yes, they could. Commissioner Eliason stated that one more government needs to join to make it a true COG.
- Pierson asked if a political subdivision was interested in the discussion but not necessarily joining in, they just need to ask Jane or Lenny? Jane said yes.
- AHSWD just got a grant last week to deal with tires in the area. They have to reach out to tire sellers in the district.
- Rob Delach commented on Athens City Council's last meeting and AHSWD's conversation. You can find that meeting online and learn a lot more details about the COG and more.
- Ben Ziff is the new mobility coordinator for HAPCAP, replacing Bryan Hinkle
- Chris Knisley has agreed to serve on the Athens County Regional Planning Commission for the City of Athens.
